Interior Health responding to Thompson-Cariboo region wildfires

100 Mile House – Interior Health is responding to the potential for fire-related impacts to health facilities and clients in the community of 100 Mile House.

Six residents from long-term care, two community care clients, and nine acute care patients are being proactively evacuated to ensure the safe continuity of their care.

The 100 Mile District General Hospital is not evacuated at this time, anyone requiring emergency care should proceed to this hospital as needed.

Due to the evacuation alerts in place throughout the region, the COVID-19 immunization clinic in 100 Mile House is also cancelled and anyone with appointments will be contacted directly to reschedule.

We are working closely with municipalities, regional districts, and the BC Wildfire Service to ensure precautions are underway to protect patients, clients, and residents.

Those requiring support during this crisis are encouraged to call the BC Crisis Line at 310-6789.

Interior Health also continues to monitor wildfire activity across the region. Wildfire planning includes supporting anyone who may be in isolation due to COVID-19. We will ensure separate arrangements are made for anyone with confirmed or suspected COVID-19 to protect the public from potential exposure.
