

Authorized Person - Sewerage System Regulation

Who is an Authorized Person (AP)?

An Authorized Person is someone qualified to act as Registered Onsite Wastewater Practitioner or Professional under the BC Sewerage System Regulation.

Finding an Authorized Person (AP)?

Registered Onsite Waste Practitioner (ROWP)

Also known as a certified sewage contractor. The best way to search the list of registrants in this link is to use the search window on the top right corner and search for your city. It will then list the ROWPs for your area. Note: The ROWP must be a Planner – PL in order to file a Sewerage System.

Professional

Typically Professional Engineers with experience in the onsite sewerage industry.

Why Do I Need an Authorized Person?

If you are building or repairing a septic system:

BC Sewerage System Regulation only permits an Authorized Person to design, install, repair, maintain and/or inspect onsite sewerage systems (aka septic systems).

If you are subdividing your land:

Authorized Persons have the required expertise to complete site assessments and report the information we require to review your subdivision application.
